Essay: My name is Allison Hauser and I chose the book Drizzle by Kathleen Van Cleve for the read poster because it's one of my favorites, and not many people have read it, to my knowledge. The plot is quick moving, and easy to follow. This book is about a girl of 11 named Polly Peabody, who must do something drastic to save her family's farm from selling. The farm is what some would call magical. At exactly one o'clock in the afternoon, every day, it rains. The rhubarbs can smack any one that smacks them, and the chocolate rhubarb isn't bluff. It really tastes like chocolate. If she can find anything to save her grandmother's farm, she will.
