

Let's Talk About It – Program Scholar

Evelyn Funda

(435) 797-3653

evelyn.funda@usu.edu

Utah State University
Department of English
3200 Old Main Hill
Logan, UT 84322

Evelyn Funda is Associate Professor of American Literature and American Studies at Utah State University where she teaches and publishes on western American literature, particularly the fiction of Willa Cather and fiction and nonfiction about the agricultural West. At present, she is completing a memoir about her Idaho farm family entitled Weeds: A Farm Daughter's Lament, and this semester she is teaching a graduate course on the literature and culture of the American Farm, a course that focuses heavily on the subject of the production and culture of food.