Beauty Isn't Everything

Sharon Creech caught my attention with her fabulous book, Walk Two Moons. I didn't know of the book until my 7th grade teacher, Mrs. Dotson, decided we were reading it as a class. I liked this book because as Salamanca was on her way to search for her mom who was in Idaho, she has a journey full of new experiences and new things she's learned. She meets a girl named Pheoby Winerbottom, who is very dramatic and overreacts to many things. She also meets a boy named Ben, whom she eventually ends up liking. This book also talks about not judging someone without knowing them, or as the quote says, "Don't judge a man, until you have walked two moons in his moccasins." I thought it was a book full of mystery at a certain point, but at the same time, it had a lot of adventure. It's a book about a little girl who just like any other, all she wants is to have her mom by her at all times to help her out throughout her life. I honestly never read, but this book is one of the best books I've read.
