

Let's Talk About It – Program Scholar

Heike Henderson

Dept. of World Languages

Boise State University

1910 University Dr.

Boise, ID 83725

208- 426-1560

hhender@boisestate.edu

Heike Henderson is Professor of German and Associate Chair of the Department of World Languages at Boise State University, where she has taught a wide variety of upper-division literature and culture classes – including two different classes about food in literature and film – since 1997. Her research expertise is in contemporary German literature and intercultural differences. She has published on Turkish-German women writers, on food in literature, and on finding balance between family and career.