For teen tech week, students built brush bots from Maker Shed, decorated them, and then raced them. Regina Jayne, a 7th grade student, was one of the winners. Students used tools from our Make It kits like wire cutters and strippers and connected the wires. Some worked individually and some worked in groups. They all agreed that next year they wanted to spend time 'tricking out' their brush bots and figuring out how to make it go faster or more straight.
