Dear School Librarian,

You are essential in building student momentum for academic success. Now is the time to join a conversation about your role in preparing students for lifelong learning. Find out how to identify partnerships to enhance your library's resources and explore 21st century learning tools by attending a Partnerships and Conversations meeting at a school library near you. You'll find the schedule on the back of this page.

If you bring a parent and an administrator (or designee) to the session, you will qualify to receive a Flip video camera for your library. And, since we will be discussing 21st century learning tools, please feel free to invite your IT person to attend.

These two-hour sessions are designed to allow you to join us even if you need to be a little late. Most are scheduled to begin after the school day ends and all will end on time. We'll also have refreshments and prizes.

I hope you can join us. You'll find the online registration form at libraries.idaho.gov/SLpartners along with additional information. Or feel free to contact:

- Anne Abrams, Advocacy & Marketing Consultant, anne.abrams@libraries.idaho.gov, or
- Shirley Biladeau, Continuing Education Consultant, shirley.biladeau@libraries.idaho.gov.

Sincerely,

Ann Joslin
State Librarian
