Ron McFarland has taught many courses at the University of Idaho since arriving in 1970: 17th-century poetry and prose, modern poetry, creative writing, contemporary Northwest writers, African writers, and Hemingway and Cormac McCarthy seminars. He served as Idaho's first Writer-in-Residence in 1984-85. His most recent collection of poems is Subtle Thieves (2012). His most recent book, Edward J. Steptoe and the Indian Wars, appeared in 2016. His memoir, Confessions of a Night Librarian (2005), offers Ron's recollections of growing up in Brevard County, Florida, in the 1950's and early 1960's, which provide excellent fodder for his wicked sense of humor and his somewhat warped "take on life."
